How would you describe your overall internship experience during your final year of faculty?

My internship was an invaluable experience that helped me decide which career path I wanted to pursue. During my time as an intern, I learned how to work in a professional environment and how to communicate effectively with colleagues. Additionally, I gained the knowledge and skills that later enabled me to secure a position at this company.

What were your main responsibilities during your internship, and how did they align with your expectations?

During my internship, I was initially given simpler tasks, but as time went on, the assignments became more challenging. I always had someone to turn on for help, which is something I truly appreciated. My colleagues were always willing to assist and explain whatever was needed. Most of my work was done as a part of a team, often with a more experienced colleague, so a lot of my tasks were team-based.

How did the internship help you develop new skills, both professionally and personally?

As I mentioned earlier, the internship provided me with the knowledge that enabled me to begin my career. I was later hired for a different position, and over time, I expanded upon the skills I had gained during the internship. I learned how to communicate effectively with colleagues, both through emails and in meetings, which greatly boosted my confidence. Additionally, I developed the ability to face challenges and solve various problems that are part of everyday work.

How did you manage the demands of your internship while keeping up with your final-year studies?

My final year schedule was very demanding, which made it challenging to balance with my internship. There were days when I had to skip some lectures in order to complete daily tasks. However, an important aspect was that I could always request to finish the work later, as everyone was very understanding of my academic commitments. Careful planning and time management were crucial, along with staying focused on the goal I had set for myself.

What advice would you give to current students who are about to start their internship or who are looking for one?

I would encourage students to apply for internships without hesitation. This experience will provide them with invaluable knowledge and skills. Internships are a rare opportunity that can help secure future employment or gain experience that is always in demand in the job market. Embracing this chance can significantly shape their career paths.

If you could go back and change one thing about your internship experience, what would it be?

If I could go back and change one thing about my internship experience, I would have been less afraid. When I first started, everything was completely new to me, and it took time to understand certain aspects of the work. It's important to remember that it just takes time to get accustomed to a new environment. The great thing about clinical trials is that it's a field where you can continuously build your knowledge and learn something new every day.
